Aircraft Plants In Belgium And France Targets

Heavy Daylight Attacks Are Made On Enemy Aircraft Production

REVEAL BOMBERS STRIKE IN POLAND

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, April 10.—The third successive daylight blow against the heart of enemy fighter strength was delivered today by fighter-escorted American fortresses and Liberators which hit also at military installations in the invasion coastal regions of northern France.

Occupied France, hit last night by RAF raiders, and Belgium were the targets of the assault. The communiqué from headquarters of the European theater of operations announcing the newest attacks said:

Aircraft Industry Hit

"Germany's aircraft industry was attacked again today by strong forces of Liberators and fortresses escorted by equally strong forces of Thunderbolts, Mustangs and Lightnings. Targets included the Evere and Vilvorde aircraft repair works and the Melsbroek airdrome in the Brussels area, aircraft factories at Bourges, France, and military installations in the Pas De Calais area and elsewhere.

"Today's attacks were the third in as many days when United States heavy bombers and Luftwaffe installations and airdromes."

Daylight operations came less than 24 hours after a five-pronged American sweep deep over the Reich to the Polish border area to

Powerful Bomber Squadrons In Attacks In New Guinea-New Ireland Sector

NO INTERCEPTORS IN NEW GUINEA AREA

By GEORGE LAIT
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HQ., New Guinea, April 10.—Powerful squadrons of American bombers were revealed today to have heaped new devastation on four key Japanese bastions in the New Guinea-New Ireland theater in a co-ordinated series of attacks which at least 350 tons of bombs were dropped.

The virtually devastated warplane base at Wewak, the tottering bastion at Hollandia and the big supply base at Hansa Bay—all on New Guinea—and the bomb-battered Port of Rabaul again were the targets of Lieut.-Gen. George C. Kenney's Fifth Air Force fliers, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced.

Not a single enemy interceptor was sighted in the skies over New

Hull Gives Warning To Neutral Nations

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Exclusively For I.N.S.)

NEW YORK, April 10.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull has delivered the strongest ultimatum yet given to the neutral nations of the world. He said quite bluntly that the United States and the allies have now passed from the position of weakness to that of strength and that the time of temporizing has ended. He said there was a long period during which, because of lack of strength, both the neutrals and the allies were forced to temporize. Later in his talk he said there can be no compromise with Fascism or Nazism. The Axis ideology must and will go in total.

Sovereignty Respected

Hull called attention to the scrupulous manner in which the allied countries had respected the sovereignty of all alleged neutral nations. At no time during the past five years of terrific stress and strain has Great Britain or the United States ever violated the rights of, or intruded upon the sovereignty of any neutral nation—even when it was reasonably supposed that neutral was rendering aid and assistance to our enemies.

Economic Sanctions Easy

The time of weakness has passed. In regard to South American countries led by Argentina, the application of economic sanctions would

West Pittsburg Youths Killed

Two Are Struck By Passenger Train On P. & L. E. Railroad Near Town

NO WITNESSES TO ACCIDENT LOCATED

Darl J. Richey, aged 19 years, of Sixth street, West Pittsburg, and Private David Ponzi, aged 18 years, of 14th street, West Pittsburg, were instantly killed when struck by a P. & L. E. Eastbound passenger train, at the curve just leaving West Pittsburg, late Saturday afternoon. Ponzi, a soldier in the U. S. Army was home on furlough and was scheduled to return Sunday morning.

According to the information Coroner T. F. Nugent was able to secure from friends, with whom they had been just prior to the accident, the two young men had been playing ball near Dan Alden's store, along Route 166 leading to Moravia out of West Pittsburg. They had driven to the scene in a small pickup truck, but were unable to get it started when they desired to return to their homes, and started to walk.

No Witnesses

As no person saw the accident, the manner in which they met their deaths is conjectured, but it is believed they started to walk across the railroad tracks and were caught between a freight train going west towards New Castle Junction, and Passenger Train No. 30, eastbound towards Pittsburg. There is a curve at this point. It is thought they were struck by a projection of the passenger train. Both had the tops of their heads crushed. The passenger train stopped and took them to Wampum, where they were removed to the Marshall Undertaking Company rooms.

Pvt. Ponzi, was born August 5, 1925, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nazzare Ponzi, of West Pittsburg. (Continued On Page Five)

Assert Dewey Would Accept

Friends Believe New York Governor Would Be Candidate If Nominated

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 10.—Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York will accept the Republican nomination for President if it is tendered him by the G.O.P. convention in June, it was learned today from his friends.

It can be stated authoritatively that Governor Dewey regards it as his duty to the Republican party and to the people of the United States to accept the high honor of running for the presidency, if it is tendered him. And today, it seems he will be nominated by the Republican party.

Dewey feels it is his duty to accept the nomination, if the convention chooses him as the best Republican to defeat President Roosevelt, because he believes an other term for President Roosevelt would completely destroy the traditional American system of government by law and not by man.

This decision by Dewey in no wise conflicts with his public declarations that he is not a candidate for the nomination. Dewey will steadfastly continue on his present course of serving as governor of New York without lifting a finger or giving a nod toward obtaining the nomination. There will never be a word from him that can be interpreted as seeking the nomination or as making him a candidate for it.

Japanese Make Stubborn Fight In Kohima Area

Renew Pressure On Allied Troops After Being Driven From Kohima Outskirts

JAPS SEEKING TO CUT SUPPLY LINES

By JAMES E. BROWN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW DELHI, April 10.—Japanese forces, thrown from the outskirts of the big Indian supply base of Kohima into which they had pushed a small exploratory force, renewed their pressure today against Allied defenders only 35 miles from the all-important Bengal-Assam railroad.

Stubborn British Tommies and Indian Gurkhas forced the Nipponese back from the suburbs of Kohima after a stubborn battle which convinced veteran observers at headquarters that the liquidation of the enemy penetration of Manipur will be at best a lengthy process.

Renew Pressure

After withdrawing to new positions, the Japanese again renewed their pressure on the Allied garrison. Advanced enemy columns now stand within 35 miles of Dimapur on the Bengal-Assam supply link serving Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's combined American-Chinese forces in upper Burma. It is for Dimapur that at least a portion of the enemy thrust in this area appears aimed.

Although the Japanese have driven fairly close to the approaches to Imphal, twin of the Kohima supply base, informed

Two Men Are Struck By Auto

One Is Fatally Injured And Other Is In New Castle Hospital Badly Hurt

Join Kicker, 50, of 1005 North Ashland Avenue, was fatally injured and Jackin Marcek, 65, same address, sustained a fracture of the skull, broken leg and tongue injury and possible internal injuries when struck by a car reportedly operated by Mrs. Charles McCowin, Wampum, R. D. 2, at Liberty street and Mahoning avenue at 12:20 a. m. Sunday, according to police and Coroner T. F. Nugent.

The investigation conducted by the coroner and police showed Mr. and Mrs. McCowin were in the McCowin car, enroute to their Wampum home. Mrs. McCowin was driving south.

The police learned the two men were walking in the southeast to the southwest corner of Liberty street. Mrs. McCowin told the investigators the lights on a northbound car blinded her.

She did not see the two pedestrians until they were directly in front of her car she related.

She immediately applied the brakes and the car skidded. Mrs. McCowin said. However, the front of the auto struck both men.

Large Crowds At Easter Services

Weatherman Gives Local District About Fifty-Fifty Break On Sunday

Not altogether wrong, but far from being altogether right, the Weather Man provided some "fifty-fifty" weather Sunday for the observance of Easter. There was little sun, but the day was not cold, although rain fell in a fine drizzle for much of the daylight period.

Despite the rain the ladies donned their Easter finery, the churches were full and the Easter parade Sunday afternoon along Washington street was about half on foot, half in automobiles.

The gasoline shortage seemed to be merely an idle rumor all day long for the streets and highways looked like the pre-war days as long lines of automobiles jammed up for traffic lights and then sped out.

The war seemed far away as one watched the young ladies strut by in their Easter gowns. Only the fact that in many cases they were accompanied by young men in service uniforms lent any belie to the fact there is a war.

Merchants reported heavy business in such things as candy, flowers and stockings. But for all that the day appeared much like any other Easter.

Ellwood Leader Taken By Death

Jonathan A. Evans, Pioneer Manufacturer, Dies At Home On Sunday Evening

ELLWOOD CITY, April 10.—Ellwood City lost one of its pioneer manufacturers Sunday afternoon, April 9, at 5:30 o'clock when Jonathan A. Evans, aged 76, died from a heart ailment in his home on Pittsburgh Circle.

Mr. Evans was born in Wayne township, the son of John R. and Mary E. Evans. As a young man and Mr. Evans started as a small settlement. Some 35 years ago he and his brother, David A. Evans organized the Ellwood City Forge company and for 33 years the late Mr. Evans had served as president of the company. Starting with six employees, the plant expanded until today it has about 600.

He always maintained an active interest in Ellwood City and its people. For over 20 years he served upon the school board. For eight years he was a member of the borough council, for 12 years he was a director and served a term as the president of the Ellwood City Chamber of Commerce.

Ten American Bombers Forced Down In Sweden

STOCKHOLM, April 10.—(INS)—Crews of 10 American bombers were interned today in Sweden after their planes landed on this nation's soil yesterday.

As far as could be learned, none of the fliers was injured and all of the planes were described as "practically undamaged." It is believed they were en route back to Britain following their daylight assaults on the German-Polish border area when they were forced down.

An eleventh plane, however, landed in the sea off the Swedish coast, but disappeared before rescue arrived. So far, no trace of its crew has been found.

Black Sea Port Being Evacuated

Germans Report Nazi Propaganda Agency Says Odessa Evacuated By Hitler Forces

NO IMMEDIATE WORD FROM MOSCOW (BULLETIN)

MOSCOW, April 10.—In a triumphant order of the day to troops of the Soviet army, Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin tonight announced Russian recapture and liberation of Odessa, great naval base on the Black Sea evacuated post-haste by defeated German forces.

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 10.—Evacuation of the big Black Sea port and naval base of Odessa to Red army troops after the vital city had been in German hands for two and a half years was acknowledged today by DNB, the controlled Nazi propaganda agency.

"Editor's Note: There was no immediate official confirmation of the city's capture from Moscow, but customarily the Germans admit the loss of major bastions in advance of Russian communiques to remove the 'string' from the red army pronouncements."

Truk Is Being 'Softened Up' By U.S. Air Force

By CLINTON GREEN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

PEARL HARBOR, April 10.—Another attack on Japan's Truk stronghold in the Carolines was announced in Admiral Chester W. Nimitz' Sunday press release, which pointedly remarked that, "operations to soften up Truk continued."

It was the first time such phraseology had ever been used in an official statement by the commander-in-chief of Pacific ocean area forces.

Liberators of the Seventh Army Air Force, the announcement revealed, bombed Momen and Dublon islands in the Truk lagoon last Friday night, ripping up the airstrip on Momen and blowing up wharves and fuel reservoirs on Dublon.

Hit Other Bases
Single Army Liberators on alternate nights also struck Jap bases of Oroku, Ponape and Uelung.

During daylight Friday, Army Mitchell's escorted by Marine Corsair fighters, bombed and strafed installations on Ponape, encountering "moderate" anti-aircraft fire. Mitchell's and Marine Dauntless dive-bombers and Corsair fighters bombed and strafed four unidentified enemy-held atolls in the Marshall Islands. Large explosions were observed and fires started among barracks, warehouses and gun emplacements.

Anti-aircraft fire encountered during the Marshalls raids was described as "moderate to meager."

Washington Roundup

(International News Service)

Some Washington circles believe today that the main objective of Secretary of State Hull's Radio speech was a bid for survival of the administration's foreign policy, regardless of the outcome of the New Deal in the November election. In his address Hull said flatly the United States cannot recognize the French national committee as the government of France, indirectly struck at Spanish aid to Germany and gave a liberal interpretation of the Atlantic charter which is taken to mean it need not prevent Russia's annexation of Polish or other territory.

While Hull says the Democrats and Republicans should keep foreign policy out of the coming election campaign, Sen. Wheeler (D-Mont.), declares the GOP will have a good chance of winning the election if it takes a stand for America against internationalism. Sen. Austin (R-Vt.), says the Republicans must take a firm stand, however, for international cooperation "and attaining a peace that will prevail."

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard meanwhile endorses creation of a congressional postwar agriculture policy committee to cushion the blow of "unemployment," depression and misery after the war. At the same time and expert with the War Manpower Commission, said the answer to the vexing and difficult problems of postwar employment is immediate planning to insure everyone a job within six months of the armistice.

The War Food Administration is disclosed to have created an intragovernment food importation committee with broad powers to determine the amount and sources of supply of food to be imported into the United States and the OPA announces loggers will be given extra food rations.

Huge Throng In Easter Parade On Famed Boardwalk

Atlantic City Returns To Normal After Exodus Of 150,000 Easter Visitors

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 10.—(INS)—The famed boardwalk at Atlantic City was back to normal today following an exodus of 150,000 Easter paraders who presented a striking contrast in their spring finery against the uniforms of servicemen and women at the resort.

Women, resplendent in multiple shades of all colors, made up a fashion rainbow as they promenaded up and down the boards. Moderate spring temperatures enabled them to doff the furs they wore at the Palm Sunday preview.

Miss Jean Bartel, Miss America of 1943, aided judges in choosing the winner of the "bands for bonnets" events, won by Mrs. Daniel Crawford of Philadelphia, whose hat was a stunning arrangement of large roses in shades of rosy orchid and deep pink. She was awarded a $50 war bond.

The runner-up who won a $25 war bond was Mrs. John L. Grant of Winnetka, Ill., with a small array of soft blue and rose flowers in an over-the-forehead tilt.

Flowers were outstanding in Easter bonnets with roses predominating.

The dominance of violet in Palm Sunday's preview held true again yesterday.

points within some 300 miles of the present Russian front, and eight hours after the RAF reportedly attacked the Paris area.

Assert Paris Hit
The Nazi-operated Paris radio was vociferous in its details of the reported attack on the former French capital. The puppet announcer asserted that RAF raiders struck at the southeastern suburbs of the city, "scattering bombs over a wide area and hitting some 10 suburban localities." At least 100 persons allegedly were killed and 70 more wounded.

A later broadcast said that a "big town" in northern France also was attacked and "heavy damage" caused.

The British air ministry confined itself to a terse preliminary announcement which said merely, "the Royal Air Force attacked enemy-occupied territory last night."

Targets In Poland Hit

The Budapest broadcast also claimed Allied planes were over other Hungarian towns. The German home radio chain claimed "single nuisance raiders" were attacking western areas of the Reich and a short time later the Deutschlandsender outlet at Berlin lapsed into silence. The Paris station itself was off the air for a long period before reporting the night attack.

The RAF night forays came on the heels of one of the deepest penetrations ever made from Britain into enemy territory.

Targets included Poznan, 150 miles east of Berlin and site of a big Focke-Wulf plant which had been moved to escape devastation; Tutow and Warnemunde in Pomerania, northwest Germany; Gdynia, near Danzig, and Marienburg, East Prussia. Poznan, which also houses a big rail junction serving Nazi armies on the eastern front, had never been attacked before and German propagandists had boasted that it was out of the reach of Allied bombers. Tutow and Warnemunde are Luftwaffe centers. Gdynia is an important assembly center of Nazi fighters, and Marienburg is one of Germany's most vital warplane hubs.

be easy. The British empire alone is probably the largest single purchaser of Argentinian beef and other food products—that country's main output.

Southern Ireland is totally dependent on the allies for its supply of gasoline and oil as well as many other necessities. If Great Britain and the United States cut off the supply of those commodities, great inconvenience and even hardship would be suffered by Eire. The same condition, only on a much larger scale, applies to Spain.

Spanish Situation

There was a time during which possibly France did not dare refuse Hitler's request for certain commodities, because if the Fuehrer had been defied he would have sent German troops out of France via the Pyrenees mountains into Spain. At that time the Spanish army was in no condition to give battle to the Axis troops. But that day is past. Hitler has too many uses for all of his armed forces on his present battlefields and those that are about to materialize, to pay any attention to Spain. However, should Hitler send troops into Spain, the allies are now strong enough to dispatch their own soldiers into that country to stop the Nazi legions.

It must be remembered that in the case of the South American Argentinian bloc, southern Ireland and Spain, the allied land, sea and air forces are sufficiently strong to enforce economic sanctions by naval blockade, or if necessary and our government so decrees to actually accomplish landings in those countries.

Young People To Bring Evangelist Here For Services

DR. BOB JONES, JR.

An announcement of interest, particularly to young people, was made here today by the Union Young Peoples Prayer Group that Dr. Bob Jones, Jr., prominent college president-evangelist, will come to New Castle on Friday, April 21, at 7:30 p. m. to conduct a rally at The First Baptist Church, Cor. North and East Streets.

Though still in his very early thirties, the youthful college president has been executive of Bob Jones College, Cleveland, Tenn., for 10 years. He is known as a brilliant speaker and writer. Dr. Jones is particularly well known and loved by the young people of America with whose problems he is well acquainted.

Dr. Bob Jones, Jr., is a noted figure in literary circles for the sermons and articles which have issued from his pen. He syndicates a religious article each week to several hundred newspapers, contributes to many religious periodicals, and is the author of the book "All Fullness Dwells." His weekly transcribed radio programs are broadcast from coast to coast.

The Diamond

APRIL BIRTHSTONE

Ever since the form of cutting known as the "brilliant" the diamond has held the first place among precious stones. The history of the diamond is full of romantic interest. In an engagement ring it is thought to soften anger, strengthen love and maintain harmony.

The diamond is the hardest known substance on earth. When devoid of tinge of color it is considered most valuable. Those with a slight tinge of yellow are "off colors" and have much less value. Cutting is important, too. Improper cutting robs the diamond of much brilliance and beauty.

BOMBING PROGRAM

BRITISH and American planes, in bombing the Balkans to aid the Russian drive into Rumania, probably have no present intention of laying waste the cities in southeastern Europe. Their purpose is to hit at war plants and transportation systems that are part of the Nazi supply lines. The Balkans may emerge relatively unscathed unless the retreating Germans embark on a campaign of destruction.

The Nazis are credited with welcoming any campaign of destruction in Europe outside their own country. They would like to emerge from the war in a position to recover more quickly than any other European country. Certainly Germany could recover more rapidly, with all its industry, than a Balkan country.

But the Allies are laying waste large sections of German cities. In the end Germany may have as large a reconstruction problem as Russia, where the retreating Nazis have gone in for wholesale destruction. Russia, however, counts upon recovering far more quickly than Germany by drafting hundreds of thousands of German workers to repair the war damage inflicted by Hitler's military machine.

Policy of the Allies from here on out may be to spare the material resources of every country except Germany as much as possible.

OPPORTUNITY SURVIVES BAD MEDICINE

Private enterprise is often talked and written about as if it were a structure of bricks and mortar that could be torn down and rebuilt at will.

Actually, the element that keeps the material evidence of private enterprise going is intangible. Underlying the factories of our Pittsburghs and Detroit is a thing of the spirit that is as unchanging as time itself. That intangible thing is individual opportunity. Where there is no opportunity, private enterprise dies and progress ceases.

In spite of constant attack, opportunity still exists in this country. If it didn't, individuals would not now be planning for the future. The coal industry is an excellent example. Although badgered by government regulation and socialist tinkers to a dangerous degree, coal men believe that coal has a bright future and they are fighting to make that future a reality. They are planning to increase the efficiency of coal by obtaining complete combustion in equipment ranging from cabin heaters to large industrial furnaces; conversion of coal into gas without by-products; "cradle to grave" household stokers which take coal from a bin and put the ashes into containers or ashpits; coal-fired locomotives able to operate for hundreds of miles without stops for fuel or water because of more complete and smokeless combustion; heaters and ranges that don't smoke or go out nights and need but one kindling a season, and scores of other possible developments.

Plans of this character result from individual opportunity which can neither be torn down nor streamlined without destroying the freedom of the people.

FARMING FOR FUEL

Approximately 18 years ago, Dr. Ernest Berl, research professor at Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, began to study how nature made coal and oil. He now reports his belief that he has solved this all-important problem.

His finding have occasioned an announcement—released by the American Chemical Society—of a process for making coal from farm, forest and sea plants, enough to supply the world's needs and more simply and cheaply than by any other known synthetic methods. The process is reported to telescope into a few years, with heat and pressure, what nature took millions of years to do in forming coal and oil.

A specially interesting aspect of the reported discovery is the prospect of supplying the nation with its peacetime requirement of gasoline for motor vehicles from small plantings of crop lands with cane sugar—without losing the sugar content. It also unfolds the possibility of making coal or gasoline from a variety of other vegetable products, including ordinary farm wastes such as sawdust, thus enabling the farmer of the future to make his own household and operating fuels.

As a contribution to the postwar world, Dr. Berl foresees his process filling the needs of the have-not nations for coal and oil, with the provision of enough land to grow the basic carbohydrates. He forecasts a reclamation of tropical jungles into cultivated crop lands for the production of crude oils and coal.

Without going into the matter of costs in detail, Dr. Berl states that the oils from which gasoline would come would be made in cheap, simple apparatus, comparing favorably with the German method of making gasoline from coal.

It is a time in the world's history when continuing wonders are being unfolded by scientific appreciation of the miracle of nature. The possibility of eventually supplying the world with sufficient fuel by a streamlined processing of many vegetable growths is overwhelming in its implications. It appears in keeping with the revolutionary strides in the field of medicine, such as the discovery of penicillin and the various sulfa drugs; to say nothing of almost limitless developments in the field of plastics.

Indications are that science has only begun to tap nature's reservoirs of products waiting to contribute their share to the material improvement of living. Because of the depletions of war, attention will particularly focus on the possibility of restoring the world's fuel supplies in new scientific recourse to nature. Thus Dr. Berl's reported findings in this field carry vast significance.

Usually the pig-headed man is the first one to squeal if things don't turn out as he thinks they should.

It now is asserted there will be no oil shortage until the year 3026. Even Ickes should know this isn't 3026.

An Illinois judge says there are to many culps for the good of the home. Perhaps a few more paddles might be better.

It is said that Whisky is $14 a bottle in London with none available. Why worry about the price if you can't get it anyhow?

Washington Calling

Willkie's Future

WASHINGTON, April 10.—To those of us who traveled with Wendell Willkie in Wisconsin, his withdrawal from the Presidential race comes as no surprise. He knew he was fighting a last-ditch battle with only a slim chance of success.

In fact, only a short time before he left on the Wisconsin campaign trip, he decided to call it all off. The reaction to his forthright stand on foreign and domestic issues had been discouraging.

Just three weeks ago, several of us sat with him in his drawing room on the Twentieth on the way to the middle-west. He talked frankly about his discouragement.

"You think I haven't a chance for the nomination, don't you?" he said to me. "Well, don't count me out yet."

Sometimes I wonder why I put so much into this. Two weeks ago I drew up a statement setting out what I had thought about it very carefully.

Decided To Carry On
"I am very happy in my law practice. I like the kind of life I have. I don't need public office. It's a terrible grind. It means sacrificing so much."

The big fellow was serious. He was expressing thoughts close to his heart.

"Then that day I got a number of letters from people who believe in the things I stand for, and therefore they have faith in me. I tore the statement up. I decided to carry on the fight."

To my way of thinking, it was a gallant fight. We in this country tend to worship success. In the long perspective of history, Willkie's failure in this instance will, I believe, loom larger than any momentary expedient "successes."

The man was more or less openly confessing his mistakes of the past. But apparently that is a luxury which politicians cannot afford. For my money it made him a bigger man.

Of course, he had two strikes on him in a race in the Republican party. First, he was a defeated candidate and, second, he is by nature a strong personal leader.

Future Role Uncertain
Our political life will be poorer for his withdrawal. Just what his role may be in the future is now a question. I do not think he will ever again stand for public office. He has always been bored by the details of politics; the inevitable spade work.

But that Willkie has stepped out of politics—in the broader sense—is difficult to conceive. He still remains, in spite of the repudiation of the middle-west, the articulate spokesman of many independent-minded voters. As such, what course he follows in the November election is important.

Already the isolationist Chicago Tribune is predicting that he will support Roosevelt for a fourth term. That to me is inconceivable if only because of Willkie's personal antipathy for the President.

A good guess is that he will more or less follow the course he took when Dewey ran for governor of New York in 1942. To some of his close associates, Willkie had indicated that he could not support the Republican choice. Toward the end of the race, however, he announced he would vote for Dewey.

If he does "take a walk," it will not, in my opinion, be into the Roosevelt camp. He might go so far as to express his conviction of the bankruptcy of both old parties and at the same time declare for the formation of a new party. Such a future since, in the nature of our election laws, it could not play a part in 1944.

Well, it was a good try that Willkie made. I am glad I saw a part of it. His stature is no less than that of a week ago.

And men and women, rich or poor, or humble folk or great.

Must find their happiness themselves, and work for it and wait.

For none to endless peace is born or given a guarantee.

That life, for him, from birth to death, will always happy be.

"My yoke is heavy!" so he said who viewed the world with awe.

For pride lies in the heavy task and never in the light.

And joy is in the peaceful home and knowledge in the school.

That beauty in the hills and fields and every rippling pool.

And faith is in the churches small, as in cathedrals vast.

For out of these contentment comes from first until the last.

Since man to reason first began, for all have been enjoyed.

Of ease and comfort and delight his strength has been employed.

He had to earn the better way with weariness and pain.

Be beaten back and suffer loss but wake to try again.

And this, since then until today, has seemed to be the rule.

The joyous life must be a blend of home and church and school.

FINALLY, it is a great advantage to Mr. Dewey to have the New Dealers attacking him now—and the greater misrepresentation the greater the advantage. When the time arrives for him to speak, a really fine opportunity to make devastating replies will be presented. In his speeches and in the platform he should be able to flatten the "another Harding" absurdity, to sicken the isolationist press which is now rejoicing over heated internationalists who insist on regarding the New Deal as a triumph for "narrow nationalism" pretty far out on the limb.

HE ALSO WILL have the opportunity to refute the New Deal sneers, which are beginning to get a little less even now. With his intelligence and political experience there is reason to feel that Mr. Dewey is fully aware of the strength of his position and will miss none of these opportunities.

In particular, he will not miss the opportunity of making it plain to Mr. Willkie to do anything except support his candidacy. If Mr. Willkie wants to point out that the party and its candidate have adopted the "beliefs which I do not hold," he will be entitled to do so—and no one except, perhaps the few isolationist newspapers and Gerald K. Smith, whom Mr. Dewey already has repudiated, will object. Mr. Dewey wants to win and so does every other mentally sound Republican politician. Accordingly, they want Mr. Willkie's support. It is inconceivable that they will not make certain of it.

Great Game Of Politics

Mr. Dewey's Advantages

WASHINGTON, April 10. IT IS worth noting that the most violent reaction to the Willkie withdrawal comes from the two most widely separated classes in the United States—the extreme isolationists and the extreme internationalists. Neither is as numerous as it is noisy. Though never before have they agreed, they are as one in interpreting the Willkie defeat.

ONE SIDE says it was a triumph for the isolationists; the other insists it was a repudiation of the internationalists, which, of course, is the same thing. And they are both obviously wrong. Like Mr. Willkie, himself, they choose to ignore the record—first, of Mr. Dewey's openly expressed and quite definite views in favor of international cooperation; second, the extraordinary view given Mr. Stassen in the campaign by Mr. Willkie, the most extreme internationalist in the country. The Wisconsin voters voted first for a man who is on record as sharing Mr. Willkie's beliefs about foreign affairs, and second for a man who has gone to greater lengths in the Willkie direction than Mr. Willkie. The views of the third man in the race—Gen. MacArthur—were not known, though he was supported by the America First leader. Mr. Willkie ran a bad fourth. To get an isolation victory out of this, one has to sweep aside all the facts and stick to the charge regardless of reason.

YET THAT is exactly what both these groups have been doing since last Wednesday in their most vociferous manner, which is very vociferous indeed. Naturally, the New Deal propagandists seize upon this for the particular purpose of furthering the Roosevelt cause for some effect. They too, deliberately ignore the facts and quote both extremes to prove that failure to nominate Willkie means the Republicans are headed back to "narrow nationalism" and a "black reaction," out of which "another Harding" will emerge.

THIS IS old stuff—and silly, because it is the New Deal party line upon which the fourth termers have been hammering for some time. And they have succeeded in misleading—or, at least, in muddling—not a few credulous citizens who rightly shrink from the prospect of such reversions. What, apparently, is not perceived by the Administration spokesmen so energetically promoting these ideas, is that they are really playing into Governor Dewey's hands, affording him an opportunity of which he is certain to make effective use. When the present Dewey situation is surveyed it is seen to be one of singular strength. The nomination is coming to him not only without a struggle, but without effort on his part. Nor will he owe it to any party group, boss or individual. Barring unforeseen developments, the Republican convention in June will willfully endorse a genuine draft in our political history. When it comes, Mr. Dewey will have kept his pledge not to be a candidate and can accept on the sound ground that the nation is greater than the State and no man is big enough to refuse such a call.

IN THE meantime, knowledge that he is going to be the Republican candidate gives him real advantages. For one, being in position to plan the running mate and mold the platform he has time to give thought to both. For another, long before the convention meets, he will know whom he prefers as National Chairman (and to gather about him the special friends he wants to help in his campaign. For to think over his own utterances and determine his own strategy. This is in contrast to Mr. Willkie in 1940 who had to fight like a tiger up to the last minute for the nomination, and never did get his campaign properly organized.

Finally, it is a great advantage to Mr. Dewey to have the New Dealers attacking him now—and the greater misrepresentation the greater the advantage. When the time arrives for him to speak, a really fine opportunity to make devastating replies will be presented. In his speeches and in the platform he should be able to flatten the "another Harding" absurdity, to sicken the isolationist press which is now rejoicing over heated internationalists who insist on regarding the New Deal as a triumph for "narrow nationalism" pretty far out on the limb.

Hayes Coming Home

Reports that Carlton J. Hayes, United States ambassador to Spain, is coming home indicates in Washington that the administration is anxious to review its relations with Generalissimo Francisco Franco before the impending European invasion begins.

For some months, the state department has been bombarded with charges that the United States has appeased the Spanish dictator with oil and other concessions. Although promptly denied, the charges were said enough to warn the patient state department to warn the patient that it would tolerate no underhanded dealings with the Axis.

Finally, the United States issued a "get-tough" memorandum asking Spain to explain why its wolfraim was being shipped to Germany and why Axis spies were permitted to operate in Tangiers.

Hayes reported recall the latest incident in America's fissure pattern of diplomatic relations with Spain.

Washington observers discredit reports that El Caudillo may align Spain with the Allies. They feel that the United States just wishes to make sure that the Axis, with many Axis visitors still in its country, will not cause too much trouble when the big push begins.

Boards Ordered To Reclassify Men

All Men Under 26 Years Of Age Ordered Placed In 1-A Group

Lawrence County Selective Service Boards orders this morning to start reclassification of all men under 26 years of age, regardless of whether they have been in 2-A or 2-B, that is men working in plants producing war materials, or men working in what has been considered as essential industries, contributing to the war effort, and regardless of whether they are married or single.

Men over 26 years of age, who have been ordered for induction up to April 12, are not granted any stay, but men ordered for induction after April 12 and who are over 26 years of age, will not be ordered for pre-induction examination until the men under 26 years of age have all been taken, the order states.

Those who have been granted occupational deferments will be ordered for induction by the local boards unless they have a special form 42-A signed by the state director, granting them further deferment, it is stated.

MEAT BURNS DRY

City firemen were called to 114 West Long avenue at 7:35 P. M. Saturday, where Frank Jarosz had put some meat on to cook and then went out for a walk. The meat boiled dry and started to smoke and neighbors thought the place was on fire, sending in an alarm from Box 35. Chief James E. Thomas reports. No action was required of firemen.

The famous pianist, Vladimir de Pachmann, played piano numbers 13,000 times in private before playing them publicly.

NEW DRAFT RULES ISSUED IN STATE

employed in war and other essential industries and thus subject to deferment.

Hershey's order directed draft boards henceforth to induct men under 26, excepting for a few key workers in important war industries, and until this was substantially completed men 26 and over employed in war plants, agriculture, newspapers, etc., were not to be taken. The army and navy needed young men for combat duty, he explained.

"All local boards will meet either today or tomorrow," Mellon directed, "and effective Wednesday morning all registrants who are 26 years of age or over on March 24, 1944, and who are making a contribution to essential war industry, agriculture, war production or supporting war industries will have their induction or pre-induction physical examination postponed until further orders."

Can Be Inducted

Mellon said that men over 25 who have passed their pre-induction physical examinations and who desire to be inducted may be called up for service by their local draft boards if they volunteer.

"Local boards should advise this headquarters immediately when they have completed the reclassification out of 2A (war-supporting industries) or 2B (war industries) of registrants under the age of 26," asserted the state draft director.

A headquarters spokesman explained that 61 out of the 422 local draft boards in Pennsylvania have scheduled men for induction before Wednesday. Hershey's order will not affect these registrants, regardless of their age.

Mellon's directive was mailed to local draft boards Saturday and a spokesman explained that each board should have received it in the mail this morning.

Some Confusion

Despite this, however, some confusion was reported. In Lackawanna County, officials of two boards (old draftees at the railroad station) that they could stay home if they wished in view of the new order issued by Hershey.

However, no one heeded the suggestion, some of the men asserting they were afraid they would be branded as slackers if they returned home. Draftees from four Lackawanna County draft boards went to training camps today as per schedule. Other Lackawanna County men slated to leave for camp Wednesday were notified by telephone by their draft officials that they could remain home if they desired.

HUGE TRANSPORT

JOB IS FURNISHED BY ARMY DIVISION

BOSTON—(INS)—To move an American armored division by rail, with its approximately 3,700 officers and men, requires 75 trains and 2,700 cars. To move it overseas, with its reserve complement of equipment and spare parts supplies, requires at least 15 Liberty ships, in addition to the necessary troop ships. The figures were made public by the Boston Army Ordnance district office.

It is estimated that the U. S. needs 18,000,000 pounds of rotenone a year—enough to make 90,000,000 pounds of finished insecticide.

New Castle Soldier Provides Comforts In War Front Home

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, Italy—Private Claude Cumberledge of New Castle, Penn., enjoys a number of unusual comforts in the dug-out home he and Private First Class Dominic Cogliano of East Boston, Mass., have built into the rear of their gun pit on the Fifth Army front in Italy.

They dug a cave about six feet deep and the same width in back of their 105-millimeter howitzer position, walled it with sandbags and empty shell casings, and provided a roof—one that will turn shell fragments by reinforcing a canvas tarpaulin with timbers and sandbags.

The gun pit and living quarters are covered by a single camouflage net. A sand stairway leads down into the dugout.

An arrangement of ammunition crates makes the bed on which Cumberledge sleeps. At the foot is a small gasoline stove. When the New Castle artilleryman wakes up each morning, he puts on coffee and goes back to sleep for a few minutes.

Other conveniences include a candle lighting system and a girder with hooks for hanging shoes, gun belts, and canteens.

In the States, Cumberledge lived in a more comfortable home at 23 Round street, New Castle.

earthly madrigal entitled "Bed Bug Blues."

And Jimmie won, doubtless to the consternation of his opponents who relied on oratory, or at least a platform and a statement of policy. Jimmie's platform contained no elaborate cures for what might be called Louisiana. Rather, it contained about five wandering minstrels and a moaning microphone.

Another rustic troubadour with political possibilities is Roy Acuff, whose friends are urging him to run for governor of Tennessee. Roy, in case you are one of those esthetes who never heard of him, is on the Grand Ole Opry broadcast from Nashville every Saturday night. The nationwide audience of faithful listeners, who would rather go without a bath than miss Roy, can be counted in the millions.

Everybody remembers Senator W. Lee O'Daniel, who sailed into the Texas Governor's mansion, to the tune of "Pass the Biscuits, Pappy." The accompaniment may have had something to do with it, for that consisted of a three-piece band. But one cannot help believing that the culinary promise of a candidate is more effective when delivered in song and the nightmarish beat of a washboard orchestra. At any rate, O'Daniel won and Herbert Hoover, whose eloquent lure of a chicken in every pot, delivered in faultless oratory, didn't.

One is entitled to wonder just how far this thing is going and where it might end. For there is beginning to appear, here and there, occasionally the little story that young Tom Dewey first came from Owosso, Michigan, to New York not to be Governor, but to study singing. Is it possible that the reluctant baritone of Albany is being groomed for a tour of the hustings, accompanied by a hill-billy band?

D.F.C. Award For Former Member Of News' Staff

A U S NINTH AIR FORCE MARAUDER STATION, England—Staff Sergeant Paul Saffron, Pittsburgh, formerly on the staff of the New Castle News, recently was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross here for outstanding work as a radio operator-gunner in a B-26 Marauder on many hazardous missions over enemy-occupied continental Europe.

The citation accompanying the D. F. C. award read in part: "Sgt. Saffron's high degree of technical skill and his faithful devotion to duty were of paramount importance in the successful completion of these missions. His courage and coolness under these trying conditions exemplify the highest traditions of the Army Air Force."

Veteran of 41 pre-invasion Marauder attacks in France, Belgium and Holland in which the American, twin-engine, medium bombers struck military installations, airfields and railroads, Sgt. Saffron also wears the Air Medal with seven Oak Leaf Clusters.

It is said that more than 80 per cent of the spending money in the United States is controlled by women.

Farmers Urged To Grow Soybeans

Protein Famine Calls For More Soybeans, A.A.A. Leader Asserts

Our soybean crop will fall 2 1/2 million acres below the national goal for 1944, according to reports from farmers throughout the Nation, said W. Clayton Jester, chief of field operations for Pennsylvania's AAA committee, in discussing the possible shortage of protein for next year's dairy production program.

Farmers would do well, said Mr. Jester, to consider their protein needs for next year when planning their planting this spring. Many farmers in the soybean producing counties of Pennsylvania will be sowing oats within the next few days. These farmers should understand that the meal from soybeans will produce roughly three times as much total digestible protein as oats grown from the same acreage. The average Pennsylvania farmer can get a cash return of $30.00 from an acre of oats while his return from soybeans will approximate $42.50 per acre.

Extend Search For Vanished New York Girl

NEW YORK, April 10.—(INS)—Police today printed 15,000 circulars bearing a description of Valsa Anna Matthai, heiress daughter of a Bombay, India, industrialist, who vanished mysteriously March 29.

The circulars bear three pictures of the comely, 21-year-old business administration student. Paid for by the Indian mission, they will be distributed to police departments throughout the country.

Miss Matthai, who, according to the circulars, may be suffering from amnesia, is described as five feet tall, weighing 100 pounds and of olive complexion. She speaks with a British accent.

Since her disappearance, police have vainly dragged the Hudson river and searched abandoned buildings for a clue to her whereabouts.

The program was arranged by the Red Cross Recreation staff aided by Mrs. Dorothy Bixler, of Sharon, a volunteer Gray Lady.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

we could not be so easily kept home from places we attend solely for pleasure.

Attend Nearby Church

Of course, we and our family may have been accustomed for years to drive a long distance to church or Sunday school. In some instances we went to such services when others of the same sect or faith were available right around the corner. Should we and our children absent ourselves from public worship just because we are not privileged to drive a car so far?

Many of us could continue, of course, attending services at the same church, going by bus, trolley car or foot. Otherwise, let us attend a church nearest our choice that is closer our home.

Excepting in some scattered rural areas, there are very few families beyond easy walking distance from a church, throughout the United States. Were it not a thousand times better for us and our children to attend church or Sunday school very different from the one we were accustomed to than to attend none?

Rich Moral Values

We don't have to give up our particular religious preference or convictions while worshipping with others who have different religious beliefs from ours. Nor can I imagine any religious service in which we should not be able to find spiritual profit.

Even though we may not find all our wishes satisfied in the church nearest our home, we and our children might gain some rich values therefrom. We might also grow more appreciative and tolerant of the religions of others. Besides, we might get better acquainted with our next-door neighbors and feel ourselves more a part of our immediate community. If we really consider attendance at religious services worthwhile, to ourselves and our children we won't fool ourselves and our children that rationing of gas is sufficient excuse for us and them to avoid public worship.

If religion has values for us and our children at ordinary times, it surely ought to have more value to us in these times. It ought to help bolster our courage and help us further grow morally among our boys at the fighting fronts. In the last analysis, we can see in church attendance a patriotic contribution.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. A friend has informed me that you have written a prayer for parents which epitomizes your philosophy of parent-child relationships. How may a copy be secured?

A. By writing me at 255 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Q. What books have you written which deal especially with personality problems?

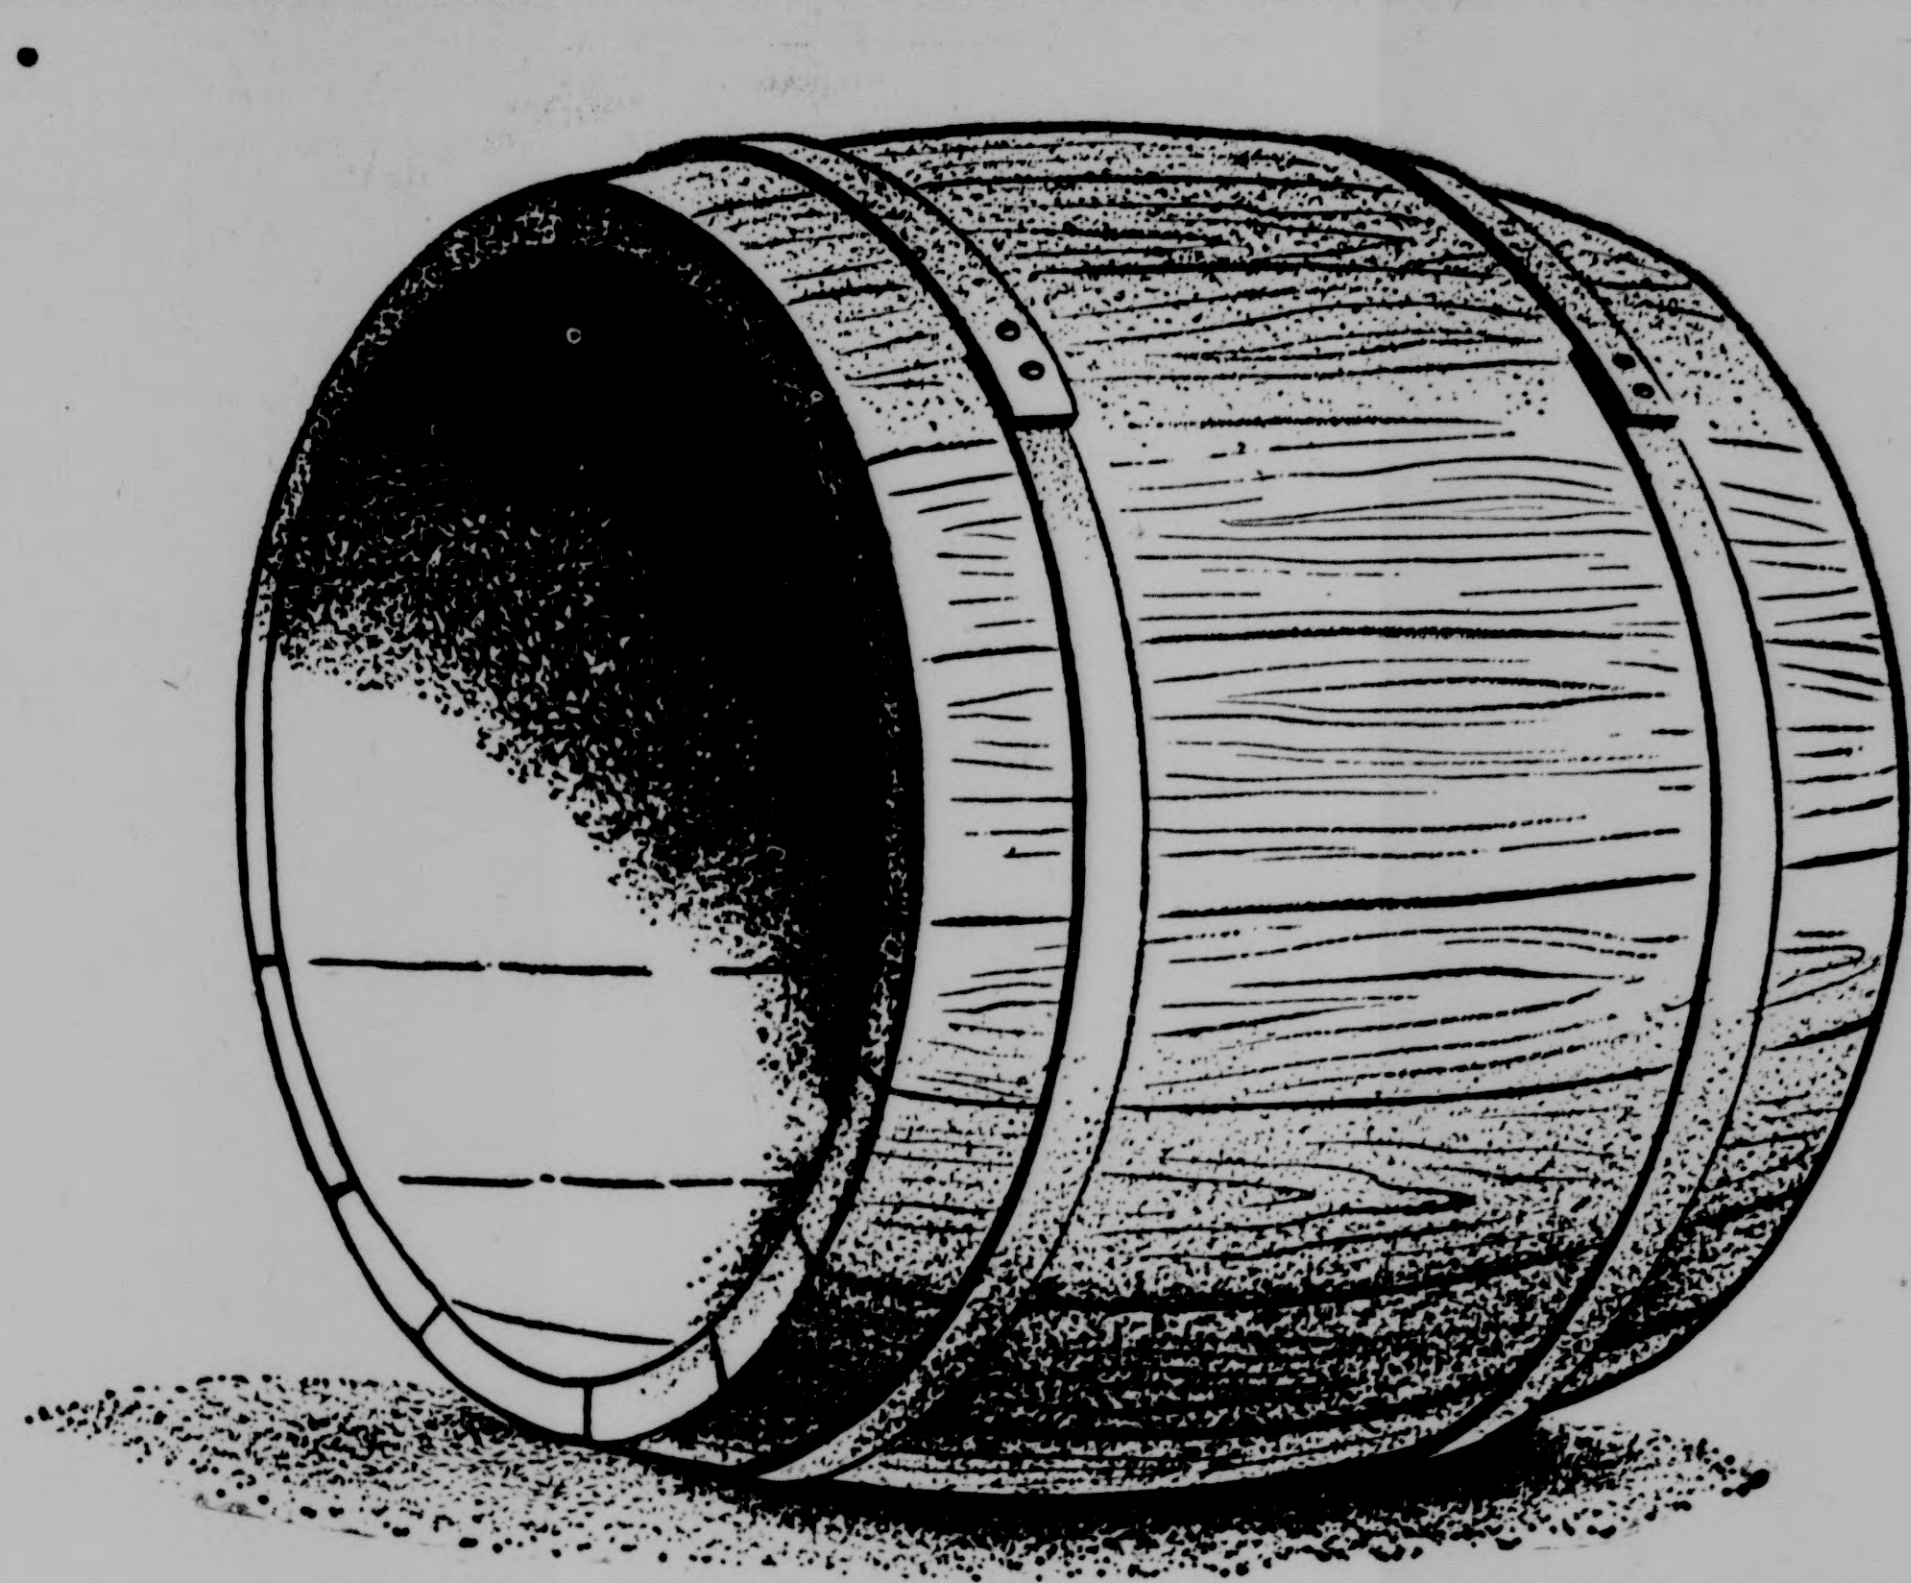

A. "Building Personality in Children" and "Learning to be likeable." The latter is addressed to the child of early teen-age. Perhaps you can find them in your public library.

Q. My daughter ten years old has speed tests in arithmetic at school. In the four minutes she is not half finished and gets many of her answers wrong even then.

A. You can help your daughter improve in these speed tests at school (which we wish were abandoned) by guiding her to work slowly and carefully at home in memorizing the basic addition and subtraction facts. She is slow because she still counts and guesses at some of them, piling up more mistakes. When one surely knows a fact like 7 and 8 are 15, one can give it quickly. In your self-addressed stamped envelope I am enclosing sheets of the 100 basic addition facts and the 100 subtraction facts. Have her learn these by heart at home, a few each day, beginning with addition.

Hints On Etiquette

A club sandwich should be eaten with a fork after the ingredients have been broken with knife and fork.

IT'S A BIG BARREL—but we're scraping bottom!

Since the National Defense program began in 1940, the Bell System telephones in service have increased by over 4 1/2 million.

But there's no more new equipment now. The Army and Navy have first call on that. That's why we can't fill civilian orders as fast as we'd like.

As we scrape the bottom of the barrel, we're trying hard to make what we have do the best possible job by—

- Stretching switchboards to make room for more lines and calls.
- Making former one-party lines serve two or more families.
- Reconditioning all serviceable facilities and putting them to use.

Nobody likes to stand in line. But it's different when the line forms behind our fighting men.

10-HOUR WORK DAY URGED BY SENATOR

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Senator Clyde M. Reed (R., Kan.), proposed that the Government establish a two-shift, 10-hour day working schedule in war plants to relieve the manpower shortage and at the same time supply an additional one million men to the armed forces.

Criticizing the Administration for "stalling" and playing politics with manpower policies, Senator Reed told a press conference that the 10-hour shift schedule would turn out more production than the three-shift, 8-hour day program now used in most plants. He charged that the Administration "apparently would rather have a labor draft than utilize labor efficiently."

Senator Reed declared that the War Department, under direction of Undersecretary Robert P. Patterson, was not attempting to utilize labor in war plants efficiently and indicated that this was due to political pressure.

Senator Reed said an aircraft plant he visited recently had changed to the 10-hour shift, and produced more planes with fewer employees.

"If the President and Paul V. McNutt war manpower chairman will forget politics, stop stalling, and utilize the manpower now available," he said, "the Army will get the men required without affecting production in war plants or stripping farms of essential labor."

When you hear of the "longest night in history" it refers to the time in 1752 when people went to bed on Sept. 2 and awoke on the 14th. At this time, through the influence of Lord Chesterfield, the Gregorian calendar was adopted in England. It was arranged by Julius Caesar did not make sufficient allowance for leap year and caused the English date to lapse 11 days behind the correct time. So, these days were omitted after Sept. 2, 1752, and the next day was reckoned as Sept. 14.

JAPANESE MAKE STUBBORN FIGHT IN KOHIMA AREA

sources predicted that Allies will hold the town—but admitted that the task of wiping out the enemy penetration will be slower than anticipated originally.

Second Glider Landing
In London, the Daily Mirror in a dispatch from an advanced base in Burma, reported that British airborne forces have made a second glider landing behind Japanese lines due east of Imphal. Already, the dispatch added, these forces have made contact with "one of the Allied columns" marching from the original landing places of the first glider force.

Reuter's news agency asserted that Anglo-Indian forces in the jungles 90 miles south of Kohima evacuated the village of Tammu but beat back enemy efforts to penetrate farther toward the important communications network.

North of the fertile Imphal plain, the Allies repulsed a Japanese attempt to retake a hill which had been wrested from the enemy in heavy fighting Saturday. The tempo of the battle on the plain itself was said to be increasing steadily.

Japanese propaganda broadcasts continued to claim the capture of Kohima and alleged the fate of Imphal has been "sealed."

Increase Pressure
NEW DELHI, April 10.—Japanese troops driving to sever the main Allied supply line from India to upper Burma increased their already strong pressure today along a wide arc and hammered relentlessly in an attempt to chop strategic blocks out of the British communications net-work.

Lord Louis Mountbatten, whose British and Indian forces earlier had hurled small advance parties of Nipponese out of the big supply base at Kohima, acknowledged that south of the Imphal plain the enemy stepped up his pressure along the Tiddim road. Veteran Allied troops, he added, still are in contact with the Japanese in that area.

In the foothills northeast of the plain, however, the Japanese suffered additional losses to their already heavy casualty lists. In speaking of the fighting in the Kohima sector, Mountbatten said tersely:

Chinese In Contact
"All parties which had penetrated our defenses have been eliminated. Fifty dead have been counted and prisoners taken."

Along the reaches of the Mogaung valley in northern Burma, Chinese troops made contact with the enemy west of the main road and south of the village of Nangmuhka. In the Fort Heitz area, the official statement added, "our troops still are meeting opposition from the Japanese in the vicinity of the Tiang river crossing on the Sumprabum-Myitkyina road."

Long-range fighters swept over enemy-held Siam to attack Japanese communications and an airborne Commando force carried out an attack on Wyataung Junction. These sorties were followed by a raid by medium units of Rangoon, where fires and explosions were seen on vital dock areas.

Earlier, it was announced that the Japanese were maintaining their pressure on Kohima from new positions to which they had withdrawn following their repulse within the outskirts of that town.

BLACK SEA PORT BEING EVACUATED GERMANS REPORT

noon (6 a. m. EWT). There was no immediate hint as to the fate of the huge garrison within the city, whose last escape route, a tenuous rail-ferry line, was under imminent threat from Russian legions less than seven miles away at last reports.

It had been estimated earlier that there were some 200,000 enemy troops in the Odessa area. The evacuation allegedly was carried out last night.

Enemy Announcement
"Odessa was evacuated the night of April 9-10. All installations which could have been used by the Soviets were destroyed. The entire war materiel as well as all stores and supplies was evacuated."

With the occupation of Odessa, the red army moves to within 20 miles of the mouth of the Danube and holds possession of the largest port on the Black sea. Odessa, with a pre-war population of more than 400,000, is the third largest city in the Ukraine, excelled only by Kharkov and Kiev. It was in German hands for two and a half years. Its outer harbor is used for merchant shipping and the inner, in normal times, as a base for the Russian Black sea fleet.

Red Tighten Ring
Moscow, April 10.—Determined red army troops, already within three miles of the big Black sea port of Odessa, tightened an iron ring about that Nazi-held city today.

and drove relentlessly toward the last tenuous rail-ferry escape line to the west.

Another 150 miles to the northwest, other legions hurried back weary German divisions retreating upon the already half-encircled Rumanian towns and villages fell to the Russians during the last 24 hours as they pressed forward along a gigantic arc between the Prut and Siret rivers.

(Unofficial dispatches reaching London, coupled with official Czech pronouncements, appeared to confirm persistent reports that the red army has fought its way into Czech territory in the Tartar pass area.)

An official bulletin from the headquarters of the red army announced that "in the Odessa direction, Soviet troops are wresting one position after another from enemy units on the approaches to the city."

In this thrust, the Russians overran the village of Cortirovchnaya, site of Odessa's main railroad yards and only three miles northwest of the heart of the big port itself. This hemmed up the Nazis within a narrow strip along the Black sea coast. At the other end of their pincers, the Russians stand within some seven miles of the last rail-ferry line which leads out of Odessa to Akkerman by way of a hazardous water route that soon may come under Soviet artillery bombardment.

More than 200,000 men have been rejected by the United States army because of illiteracy.

ALLIED ARTILLERY HAMMERS NAZIS ON ITALIAN FRONT

a concentration of 21 enemy tanks and self-propelled guns northeast of Minturno and with causing heavy damage to rolling stock west of Formia. In addition, they scored a direct hit on a big field dump east of Spigno.

Enemy artillery fire and patrols were less active in the Anzio beach-head area. One Nazi patrol was repulsed in a skirmish two miles south of Clistera while others were beaten back along the left flank.

The Allies knocked out another "Goliath remote control" tank by rifle fire north of Sesano on the right flank and an anti-aircraft battery listed a Dornier 217 as probably destroyed during a brief attack which saw bombs again drop in the Allies' hospital area.

Ortona Shelled Lightly
On the Eighth Army front, Ortona was shelled lightly.

The assault by veteran New Zealand infantrymen against two key Nazi strongholds saw the islanders advance behind a curtain of bursting grenades and death-dealing machinegun fire.

Heavy casualties in both killed and wounded were inflicted on the surprised Nazis. Heavy and medium artillery batteries churned enemy positions flanking the Tyrrhenian sea, pounding pillboxes, Nazi-occupied farm-houses and dense barbed wire entanglements with good effect. "Several" enemy tanks, trapped in the overwhelming barrage, were destroyed.

At the same time, patrol activity and artillery exchanges were reported from other fronts.

Speedy fighter-bombers of the Mediterranean Air Force meanwhile hit at enemy rail communications in the Rome area, artillery concentrations north of the immediate battle zones and shipping off the Dalmatian coast.

The assaults against enemy communications near Rome were carried out by Warhawks and Thunderbolts. Other squadrons of these same types blasted enemy trucks, guns and roads in the Anzio beach-head and Cassino sectors while low-flying invaders whisked over towns between the Garigliano river and Nettuno.

Flowers For Remembrance No Matter The Occasion

You are always in the best of taste when you send flowers. For sympathy to those who have lost loved ones—for joy to those who have had happiness come into their lives—for remembrance to those who are celebrating some event of years ago. Flowers are always proper, but their beauty is enhanced when they are properly prepared.

Sunday School Contest Closes

Winners In Pre-Easter Campaign In City Are Announced By Director

Easter Sunday was a glorious climax to an eight-weeks pre-Easter increase campaign that was sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, as practically all of the participating Sunday schools set new attendance records for this year and accumulated a large number of additional points.

The winner in the first, New Castle group, was the First Presbyterian Sunday school, and this is the fourth consecutive year they have gained this honor. They deserve much credit. The second in this group was the Third U. P. with the largest attendance of the campaign yesterday, 627. The Highland U. P. was third and the Epworth Methodist had a splendid attendance yesterday and stepped into fourth place over the First Baptists and First Methodist, who also had a fine showing.

In the second, New Castle group, the Central Presbyterians were the winners with the First Christians not far behind. The Croton Methodists were in third place and the First U. P. in fourth place. In the third, New Castle group, the Mahoning Methodists were in first place by a good margin, and in the fourth group the St. John's Lutherans had the highest New Castle percentage and were winners.

In the church attendance campaign the Second U. P. was the winner with a percentage of 86 for the entire campaign, which means that this high percentage of the Sunday school remained for the morning worship service. The Wesley Methodist was in second place and the Highland U. P. First Christian and Nazarene were tied for third place. The winners in the districts outside of New Castle were: Wilmington district, New Wilmington U. P. Sunday school; Wampum district, the Newport Methodist Sunday school. This small but active Sunday school had the highest percentage of the campaign, 4500. In the Mt. Jackson district, the Edinburg Methodist Sunday school has first place and in the Plaingrove district the Plaingrove Presbyterian is the winner. Complete standings for the county will be published later.

The 1944 pre-Easter increase campaign is now over and much credit is due the Sunday school superintendents, pastors and all taking part. The County Sabbath School Association wishes to thank heartily the New Castle News for their publicity and assistance in the campaign.

Ballots for the presidential election in November will be sent out under the act of congress which President Roosevelt recently permitted to become law without his signature, implemented by changes to be made in the Pennsylvania absentee ballot laws at the May 1 special session of the legislature.

From the windows of the county treasurer's office back to the entrance in the corridor the place was jammed with people, most of them wanting to clear their properties of delinquent taxes before the treasurer's sales, others to ask why they got a notice when they had

Second Y.M.C.A. Report Called

Team Members Are Asked To Make Return On Memberships Tuesday Evening

General Chairman J. Preston Flaherty and his two division leaders, Alex Samuels and Paul Gilbert, have called for the second report on membership in the annual Y. M. C. A. membership drive for Tuesday, April 11.

The drive leaders were pleased with the fine report turned in last Tuesday, when 390 memberships were reported by the various teams. Indications are that the second report this week should equal last week's effort.

Harold Pears, coach of the boys' teams, has been doing a fine piece of work and says that the men's teams will have to get busy if they are to better the mark being made by the four boys' teams.

Chairman Flaherty has requested the team captains to get their reports into the Y.M.C.A. office before 9 p. m. so that the results can be tabulated and credit given the different teams for the work they have done.

Over 50,000 Cans Collected In Week

School Children Keep Up Their High Average For Weekly Collection

The city school pupils collected and turned in at their respective buildings 51,595 prepared tin cans this week. This was a drop of nearly 10,000 from last week's record collection of 60,000. West Side was the only school to report 100 per cent participation from their student body and therefore leads the one group of schools. Rose Avenue with many more cans was a close second with 99 per cent. Thaddeus Stevens was high in the other group, reporting 98 per cent. Oak Street turned in the biggest total, 3,173.

For individual honors, Theresa Croach was the leader at Thaddeus Stevens with 340 cans. She is six years old and a first grader. At West Side, Charles Walzer was the best with his collection of 242. The city leader was once again Elizabeth Harper of Oak Street school. This week she gets credit for 1234 cans. These pupils will appear on the tin salvage radio program next Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. along with the winners from the week before.

Plans are being made to ship two more carloads of cans from New Castle on Saturday, April 15.

All pupils in Lawrence county should keep in mind the big Tin Can Matinee on April 29 at the Penn theater. It takes a credit of 350 cans to get a ticket.

Best Garden Crops For Victory Effort

STATE COLLEGE, April 10.—Carrots, beets, tomatoes, onions and greens were designated as Pennsylvania's all-victory crops today and recommended to home gardeners as "crops which yield the most in nutritional value for the space occupied."

Green leafy vegetables were given a high priority rating by Dr. Warren B. Mack, head of the horticulture department at the Pennsylvania State college and executive secretary of the State Council of National Defense victory garden committee, because of their high content of vitamins A, C and the B-complex, their calcium and their iron, ease of culture, wide adaptability and large yield from small space in a short time.

Only short lengths of salads, radishes and greens should be planted at one time, he cautioned, "because they remain usable during only short periods, and because there is no sense in growing so much of anything that some will be wasted."

He recommended carrots, beets, onions and tomatoes, he said, because they remain usable during a long period or may be stored for the winter. Carrots and beets, he added, may yield 15 tons to the acre; an acre of onions has been known to yield as much as 40 tons of food as marketed, and an acre of tomatoes, 25 tons or more.

Space, he continued, will largely determine the type and number of vegetables which will be planted. In addition to the five all-victory crops he recommended snap beans, cabbage, turnips, radishes, leaf lettuce and green beans as a good list for the small garden.

Thompson's Hoard Of Wealth Grows

CHICAGO, April 10.—(INS)—The fourth safety deposit box of the late William Hale Thompson was opened Saturday and yielded a hoard of $230,700 in currency, face-value bonds and stocks.

The total estimated wealth recovered since the former mayor died on March 19 was raised to $1,767,950. More than a million and a half dollars of this amount was in currency, in old-style, large $1,000, $500, $100 and $50 bills.

Thompson's fifth box, also opened Saturday at the National Boulevard bank vaults, yielded nothing of value.

Confusion Over New Draft Order

HARRISBURG, April 10.—(INS)—Clarification of the order halting induction of men over 26 years of age engaged in essential industries was expected today from officials attached to Pennsylvania selective service headquarters.

An explanation of the latest edict by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national draft director, probably will be forthcoming because of some confusion among local board members who have expressed the opinion that inductees ready for processing in camps may be returned to their jobs.

A REPORT TO THE NATION on General Motors 1943 War Activities

- ★ Physical volume of war materials produced was more than double that of 1942.
- ★ Total value of 1943 war production more than 3 billion, 500 million dollars.
- ★ Average total employment 448,848, an all-time high.
- ★ Total payrolls more than 1 billion, 300 million dollars—up 54%.
- ★ Materials and services purchased from others approximately 1 billion, 900 million dollars—up 88%.
- ★ Net income after taxes from manufacturing operations—3 1/2 cents per dollar of sales.

GENERAL MOTORS 1943 deliveries of war material rose to a total value of more than 3 1/2 billion dollars, or about 87% more than in 1942. The increase in physical volume was even greater, since unit prices were reduced during the year. Deliveries of service parts and other authorized civilian material amounted to $250,000,000, a decrease of about 30% from 1942.

At the time of Pearl Harbor, G.M. deliveries of war products were at a rate of two million dollars' worth a day. By the end of 1943 the daily rate was above twelve million dollars. The 2,300 separate items placed in production ranged from small and delicate parts to airplane engines, complete airplanes, tanks, and powerful Diesel engines for submarines and landing craft.

AVERAGE EMPLOYMENT in General Motors in 1943 was 448,848, an all-time high. The figure stood at 503,749 in December. In 1942, the yearly average was 314,144, and the December figure was 391,975. Thus the increase in yearly average was 43%. At the same time, payrolls rose 54%, and reached a total of about 1 1/4 billion dollars.

More than 200,000 new G.M. employees were trained for war work in 1943. Enrollment in courses for supervisors and executives totaled 21,500.

The percentage of working time lost because of accidents was less in 1943 than ever before.

TOTAL NET INCOME after taxes in 1943 from war output and other sources was $149,780,088, compared to $163,651,588 in 1942 and $201,652,508 in 1941. Net income after taxes from manufacturing in 1943 was only 3 1/2 cents per dollar of total net sales.

93% of all war material delivered to the end of 1943 was manufactured under fixed-price contracts. General Motors early adopted the policy of reducing prices to the government as lower costs were achieved through greater experience. The government benefited many millions of dollars by these reductions in 1943. Taxes in 1943 totaled $308,068,000, of which federal taxes were $254,783,000; social security and unemployment insurance taxes, $39,263,000, and state and local taxes, $14,022,000. Common stock dividends were $2 per share in 1943. They were also $2 in 1942, $3.75 in 1941 and 1940, $3.50 in 1939.

The year 1943 was one of great effort and sound achievement in General Motors. The job is not yet done. All are determined to contribute to the utmost toward final victory. When this is accomplished, there will be the task of preparing for the requirements of peace. But until that time "Victory is Our Business!"

IN 1943 GENERAL MOTORS

FACTORY EMPLOYEES submitted 123,000 written suggestions for improving production or working conditions. 25,400 ideas were accepted.

NEARLY 86,000 G.M. MEN AND WOMEN HAVE ENTERED THE ARMED FORCES

Vanishing Easter Eggs Mystery Is Quickly Cleared

CHICAGO, April 10.—(INS)—The mystery of the suddenly vanishing Easter eggs which had been hidden around Grant park to provide an egg hunt for service men was explained today.

Sponsors of the event reported they learned what had happened when a conscientious but crestfallen caretaker walked into the service men's center, a huge basket of broken eggs over one arm.

It seems he had not been apprised of what was to take place and, noting the eggs scattered here and there, he had started cleaning things up, spearing the eggs with the sharp-pronged stick used to pick up stray bits of paper.

He realized his mistake when the first contingent of service men arrived for the hunt.

Piqua Is Seeking Chance For Flier Hero To Return

PIQUA, O., April 10.—(INS)—Piqua's city commission today asked President Roosevelt if Capt. Don S. Gentile, the 23-year-old lad who broke Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker's record of 26 enemy aircraft by destroying 30 Nazi planes, might not be returned to America for "a much needed rest."

The commission in a telegram to the President expressed the hope that war department regulations would permit the return on furlough of the Piqua boy, a combat pilot with the famous 8th American Air Force group.

Capt. Gentile had been credited with 27 enemy planes up to last Saturday when he returned to his base in England from a sweep over Germany to announce he had shot down three more Nazi planes, running his bag to 30.

Rickenbacker ran up his record in the last world war and it previously had been equaled in this war by Maj. Joe Foss and Maj. Gregory Boyington, the latter of whom has been reported missing in action.

Do not slacken your efforts to salvage all the waste fat you possibly can and give it to the government. The sooner it reaches the butcher the sooner it will help the war effort. You will collect two brown ration stamps for each pound you turn in. Efforts must not stop.

CANTALOUPE

Cantaloupe seems to be our most popular melon. It is very much like muskmelon in every way except that it does not contain nearly so much vitamin.

Cantaloupes are very valuable as food although they are not very rich in nourishment. It takes about a pound to make 100 calories, to equal a large slice of bread.

They are available almost all year. They look good and taste good. They afford minerals and vitamins.

They make a good dessert since they seem to satisfy the appetite and are good "to top off on."

Fans Are Frisked As Montreal Wins

Move Eliminates Spectators' Demonstration; Canadiens Near Stanley Hockey Title

CHICAGO, April 10.—(INS)—The Montreal Canadiens were short only one game today of a championship in the Stanley cup hockey playoff series, their 3 to 2 win over the Chicago Blackhawks last night giving them three straight victories to none for the Hawks.

A 2 to 1 Chicago victory appeared in the making until the Canadiens struck twice within 55 seconds in the final period. The Montreal outfit will try to make it four straight Thursday night on their home ice.

Just to make sure that there would be no repetition of Thursday night's demonstration when spectators stopped the game for 20 minutes by throwing objects onto the ice, upstairs customers were "frisked" before they were permitted to buy tickets.

The haul included steel bolts, marbles, coat hangers, bags of rice and flour, lemons, oranges and limes, pieces of steel, quart bottles of beer, and two folding chairs.

Latest Army Game: 'Sink Hole Football'

Fifty-Men Needed, 25 At Rim Of Sink Hole, 25 In Bottom

JEFFERSON BARRACKS, Mo., April 10.—A new game, conceived by S-Sgt. Bliram Kurth of the 25th Training Group, threatens to take the Post by storm. It's called "sink hole football," and it involves 50 men—25 at the rim of the sink hole and 25 in the bottom.

The team at the bottom attempts to get a medicine ball out of the hole by running it out with the aid of interference and all types of blocking. In endeavoring to prevent this the opposition above are allowed to go halfway down the slope, resulting in a rugged battle involving plenty of bodily contact.

The 25 men on the rim of the sink hole are spaced about two feet apart, while those below disperse their forces as they please.

One point is scored each time a team gets the ball out successfully, and a playing time of five minutes is allotted each side.

The Giants will again meet the Yanks today at Atlantic City.

Moguls-Players Hope To Start, Finish Season

Only Direct Order From Washington Will Halt Game; Walsh Explains 1918 Break That Didn't Take Place; Officials Seem Determined To Continue Play, Walsh Learns While Touring Camps.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
I. N. S. Sports Writer

CHICAGO, April 10.—It can be definitely said that, in spite of the loss thus far of very nearly all talent with sucker-appeal at the turnstiles . . . and the loss apparently yet to come through the projected 4-F labor draft . . . baseball hopes to start and finish the impending 1944 season. That, anyhow, is what a man not only comes to believe, but is practically forced to, after polling qualified opinions on the subject during a tour of the major league camps in the East and Middle West. Only a direct order from Washington will stop the game, it is said.

Quick Pickups

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(International News Service Staff Writer)

CHICAGO, April 10.—Just for the sake of doing it with complications, or maybe for the rudimentary fun of the thing, the National Football league is going into Philadelphia on the 18th with its annual meeting in opposition to the opening of the baseball season. They also doubt know whether they're going to have original eight teams or 11 teams, or 12, or even six.

Outside of that, though, everything's all straightened out.

One reason irate citizens desisted from expressing their disapproval of the Montreal-Blackhawks proceedings in the customary way last night is that doormen put the frisk on everybody who looked like they might be carrying a few pieces of roaded confetti. Or an assortment of groceries that had reached an advanced or elderly state. Nobody seems to know whether or not Henry Armstrong will get a "reprieve" from the army so he can make that fight here at the Coliseum on the 28th.

Funny arrangement, that signing of Dud De Groot as head coach and Clark Shaughnessy as "guest conductor" of the "T" for the Washington Redskins.

De Groot, a Stanford man, was at San Jose State with an unbeaten team and was fully expected to get the Stanford job in 1940. Instead, it went to Shaughnessy. And De Groot got so mad, he left that part of the country and went all the way back to Rochester. Now they're both working for George Marshall and it certainly seems funny.

The Cubs are really miffed this time with Novikov. A week ago he said he was on his way. Last night at French Lick, he was still taken unavoidably absent. (Maybe he's coming by pogo stick.)

Nobody knows much about that other pro football league, if any, except that Bill Cox is said to have not one team, but two. And it might deter some of the more ardent souls identified with the new organization if they had a look at the National league books. It costs a minimum of $15,000 in salaries alone to put two teams on the field for a single game.

As for the proposed "minor league" operation in American Association ball parks after the war, somebody's going to remember one of these times that most of those towns are within Sunday, peace-time driving distance of most of those towns. . . . Bill Nicholson is said to have signed for $12,000 with the Cubs, which is less surprising than the fact he's reported to have got only $8,500 last year. . . . Benny Leonard, a great lightweight champion, was 48 on Friday last.

Twins Too Much Alike; Mix Judges

Weiss Brothers Switch Corners During South Pacific Bout; Stir Confusion

By SERGT. BILL ALLEN
Marine Corps Combat Correspondent

Distributed by International News Service
SOMEWHERE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC.—(Delayed)—(INS)—Last night, in a palm-fringed coconut grove here I witnessed the goofiest boxing match I have ever seen.

This fight was a battle of brothers, which is not uncommon in service bouts. But these brothers were twins. Not only were their looks and fighting togs alike—even to white shoe laces—but they fought in exactly the same style.

Switch Corners

To complicate matters further, twins were in their corners as seconds, so when the fighters switched corners at the end of round two, at least they say they switched—even their handlers found it impossible to tell them apart.

The fighters, both champions in the welterweight and middleweight classes in the South Pacific, were Harvey and Moe Weiss, Marine privates first class, of the Bronx, N. Y. Tipped off that the fighters had switched corners, the judges finally came up with a decision to top all decisions.

"The winner—Weiss," and pointed to both corners at the same time.

Grooms Hold Up Jamaica Racing

Demand And Get Raise Saturday; Strike Today Definite Possibility

NEW YORK, April 10.—(INS)—Trouble loomed for the officials at Jamaica race track today in the form of a requirement of the grooms' strike which last Saturday held up the opening of the New York racing season by 20 minutes.

The grooms refused to lead the horses to and from the paddock, demanding $5 from the owner of each entry and $15 for each winner handled instead of the flat rate of $10 for each winner only.

Track officials at Jamaica now are warning patrons to retain their check stubs, in the event that another strike is called. The Metropolitan Jockey club merely delayed action Saturday when it pacified the grooms with a $5 award each, and another strike is a definite possibility.

Basketball Tourney Planned At Salem

SALEM, O., April 10.—Salem's "Little City" basketball tournament this year will be open to north-eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania teams regardless of the size of the community which they represent.

This was announced today by J. M. Joe Kelley, manager, who set the dates for the 10th annual cage event for next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Entries will be received as late as Thursday morning.

Fifty trophies again will be awarded the participating teams. Twenty-two quintets took part in last year's tournament which was won by the Louisville, O., Sunoco.

Zurita-Jack Encore In Mexico, May 5

MEXICO CITY, April 10.—(INS)—Mexico's new national boxing association lightweight champion, Juan Zurita, again will meet Beau Jack of Augusta, Ga.—but this time it will be on Juan's home grounds. Zurita, who was dubbed by Jack in ten rounds at Madison Square Garden March 31, will clash with the ex-shoeshine boy May 5 in Mexico City, according to a statement issued yesterday by Zurita's manager, George Parnassus.

Sports Ramblings

Monday's Wash.—

Until Duquesne and Hazelton swapped field goals for the PIAA championship, New Castle and Newport township high held the total points scored record. In 1936, when the "Carnes" lost the crown in the final 10 seconds, NC and Newport switched 70 markers (36-34). The record was smashed when Duquesne defeated the western boys, 43-35. . . . The Moose clubs five bowling teams entered in the Franklin ten pin tourney, assail the maples on April 30. Last year, the Deep aggregation, carrying the Moose colors, copped the tourney. . . .

Lawrence County's two representatives in the Sharon cage tourney, have been erased. The Castles were bumped by Freeport, 44-27, while the Legion No. 1 team, composed mostly of Sharon high passers, kayced New Wilmington high, 40-14. . . . Ed Little and Noble Jorgensen, Westminster area, and Brokaw Cathcart, New Wilmington, are dribbling with the Sharon S. & M. club, one of the favorite clubs. . . . Look for the PIAA to add Class B to the state cage tourney. School and sports writers have supplied enough impetus to away the august board. . . .

Tom Yawkey, hoping to field a championship team, has spent $4,000,000—all in vain. With the 1944 season opens a few days away, it looks like Yawkey's Boston Red Sox will have a tough time keeping out of the cellar. The roster includes seven 4-Fs with the remaining players expected draft calls. . . . Only six of the 16 New York Yankees who whipped the Cardinals last fall now are with the club. . . . Derby notes: A dozen fillies have been nominated to run. . . . Thirty-four of the horses entered are owned by women. . . .

Hoss players who like to slap their cabbage on favorites found less consolation in 1943 than in 42. Last year, the number of public choices dropped nearly three percentage points, according to the N. Y. racing commission. In 1943, the percentage of winning favorites was 35.38, compared with 36 per cent the previous year. Pre-race choices reached home first 507 times out of a total of 1,433 events. . . .

Garcia Favored To Beat Fontaine

PITTSBURGH, April 10.—(INS)—Ruby Garcia, rugged New York lightweight, was expected to enter the Gardens ring tonight as a favorite over his opponent, Pittsburgh's Just Fontaine. They are scheduled for eight rounds.

The Garcia-Fontaine battle will be the feature of a six-bout card. In three other eight-rounders the pairings are: Phil Muscato, Buffalo, vs. Otto Blackwell, Homestead; John Vores, Detroit, vs. Bob Jacobs, Philadelphia; and Bee Bee Wright, Clairton, vs. Bobby Maloney, Homestead.

In two four-rounders, Benny Andy, Altoona, faces Larry Alwoods, Pittsburgh, and Johnny Vorey, Detroit, battles Mike Scanlon, Pittsburgh.

Lawrence County Sportsmen's association will hold its last pre-tourney meeting at eight o'clock Tuesday night in the W. P. W. hall, East Washington street. Officials of the organization and fish protectors will ask the members to obey the fishing laws and to also respect the rights of farmers. According to reports all Lawrence county trout streams have been well stocked. The season will be ushered in at five a. m. Saturday.

Crop Of Horses Tops This Year

Platter, Pukka Gin, Occupy, Director J. E., Pensive, Royal Prince Crack, Colts

CHICAGO, April 10.—(INS)—Horse racing enthusiasts are willing to let controversies over relative merits of 1943 juveniles rage, but since the youngsters turned three Jan. 1, the approaching season has taken precedence over all other questions.

Lasts of nominations for the $50,000 Arlington classic and the $50,000 American Derby have become an early directory to leading 3-year-olds.

This year's Arlington classic drew 144 nominees, the Derby 141. In 129 cases the same horse was listed in both stakes.

List Prominent

Almost every 1943 juvenile of prominence, fillies as well as colts, is among the Classic-Derby nominees. Listed are Platter, Pukka Gin, Occupy, Director J. E., Abolter, Jezrahel, Bellweather, Pensive, Weyanoke, Black Badge, Styne, Royal Prince, Boy Knight, Gay Bit, By Jummy, Lucky Draw in the colt division, and Danzma, Twilight Tear, Miss Keeneland, Cocopet, Thread O'Gold and Harriet Sue among the fillies.

Free France, son of Man o'War-La France, is among others of high promise. Owned by motion picture executive Louis B. Mayer, Free France was one of the most highly publicized youngsters of 1943 despite the fact he was not sent to the post last season. He has yet to make his first start.

Boys In S. Pacific Area Enjoy Fishing

Yanks Spend Leisure Time Dipping Lines In Ocean; Tuna, Baracuda Are Plentiful

CHICAGO, April 10.—(INS)—Rod and reel enthusiasts now in service in the South Pacific area still spend most of their leisure time fishing in the ocean near their bases.

Ensign William W. Haerther, Jr., of the naval reserve, recently wrote to his father, Lt. William Haerther of Lake Villa, Ill., and told about a one-day fishing trip he took with four buddies.

The ensign told of the beauty of the islands and added:

"We caught a flock of tuna, which are like drums. Baracuda are plentiful and lots of fun to catch, but the best are the mackerel. Haven't seen any Spanish variety. So far all we've caught have been king mackerel."

"But such kings," he declared, "we got one that must have been an easy 35 pounds."

Ensign Haerther said sea bass, marlin and sailfin inhabited the waters, but that none of his group had landed any yet. He said sharks were the main trouble and the fishermen had to "horse" their fish in so the sharks wouldn't get them.

FRENCH LICK, Ind., April 10.—(INS)—The French Lick place of spring training for the Chicago Cubs and White Sox wound up today ahead of schedule. The players immediately began getting ready for the trip home to Chicago where they will start a five-game series Thursday, the first game at Wrigley field.
